On Tuesday, April 12th, Culturama is hosting a lecture and Q&A about the Passover holiday by Jill Gold Wright, one of our wonderful English professors at Mt. SAC.

Passover is the Jewish holiday that celebrates Spring and the Exodus of the Jews from slavery in Egypt. In modern day, it is a celebration of redemption from slavery everywhere. Jill will share the special rituals, foods, and songs of the traditional Seder meal.

If you have ever wondered what the holiday of Passover is all about, come, learn, and celebrate!

Lecturer Bio: Jill Gold Wright has been on faculty at Mt, SAC for 24 years. She earned her Ph.D. in English at Claremont Graduate University and is studying for the rabbinate at the Academy for Jewish Religion. Her previous Culturama events include lectures on American Musical Theater, the soliloquies in Hamlet, and the Jewish High Holidays.
